Hasbrouck, J., Denton, C. (2010). Chapter 4: Designing academic Interventions for students with reading difficulties. In The reading coach 2: More tools and strategies for student-focused coaches (pp. 41 – 49). Longmont: Sopris West Educational Associates.

Description: This chapter focuses on a framework that can guide teachers as they adapt their classroom instruction to support the reading development of struggling students. As indicated within the chapter, coaches may teach this adaptation framework within grade level team meetings. In Table 4.1, page 44, numerous examples are provided for adaptations in four areas: instructional content, instructional activities, delivery of instruction, and materials used in instruction.
